

Research Participants Wanted

Have you had a concussion?

Research Description

To improve treatments for older adults who have had a concussion, researchers at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill are looking for participants diagnosed with concussion for a phone/virtual study about their experiences related to thinking and communicating after injury. This study is expected to take 2 hours, compensation provided.

This study may be a good fit for you if you are:

- An adult age 65-89 who has had a concussion since turning 65
- Experienced a concussion at least 3 months ago
- Conversational English speaker
