Carrboro Branch Book Club: Tues., Feb. 18, at 6:30 p.m.

Free to join and open to the public, this book club meets monthly for a librarian-led discussion of the latest book selection. Copies of this month's selection—The Language of Flowers by Vanessa Diffenbaugh—are available. For more information, please call the OCPL Carrboro Branch Library at 919.969.3006.

Black History Month Movie: Sat., Feb. 22, at 2:00 p.m.

Don Cheadle stars as Paul Rusesabagina, the hotel manager at the fancy Les Milles Collines hotel in Kigali, Rwanda. This award-winning film tackles one of the most horrific events in recent history, when the Hutu extremists of that country initiated a campaign of genocide against minority Tutsis, while the world looked on and did nothing. Led by local film critic John Black. Rated PG-13.
