What we heard from Orange County:

- Increase diversity of available housing models
- Improve affordability of desired housing
- Provide information about housing models to help individuals decide where they want to live as they age
- Improve accessibility of current housing and utilize Universal Design in new constructions
- Provide information on housing concerns (e.g., maintaining homes safely and affordably; improving functionality of homes as individuals require more care; long-term care options)
- Focus on adequate transportation; access to healthcare, resources, and other services; walkable communities; and efficient use of space (e.g., patio homes, multifamily homes, zero lot line homes) when creating new housing communities for older adults
