Continuing Care Retirement Communities

Continuing Care Retirement Communities (CCRCs) provide varying levels of housing options and assistance based on a resident's needs. These range from independent units (such as apartments or cottages / villas) to assisted living to skilled nursing care. Many CCRCs require applicants to be functionally independent when they apply and / or become a resident. Call individual CCRCs for specific information. The NC Department of Insurance publishes an annual reference guide on North Carolina Continuing Care Retirement Communities. To order a free copy, call 919-807-6140 or visit www.ncdoi.com.
